

SIM v Software Auditing Tools

Complementary not competing or conflicting

What will Transam's Software Inventory Management (SIM) service tell you that a Software Auditing Tool will not?

- The type of licenses you own
- Maintenance and support expiry dates
- Budgetary figures for maintenance and support renewals
- Whether maintenance and technical support services are bundled or unbundled
- Your second line technical support authority on each product
- The latest software versions available

Also SIM will provide you with a back up, off site repository of your license agreements and license keys

Of course, a software auditing tool will tell you what software is actually installed on your servers and PC's for comparison with the SIM exercise.

If you wish to know more about the SIM process and how it can help you, contact your Transam Account Manager on
